New superintendent hired

By Hilley Schulte
Staff writer

Ken Miller
... New superintendent

After searching for nearly a month, the Madison School District 12 Board of Education hired a new superintendent at a special meeting Wednesday evening.

Ken Miller of Roxana was named to replace former Superintendent Dan Kostencki, who took a superintendent's position with the Belvidere school system. Assistant Superintendent Hilda Everage has acted as interim superintendent since Kostencki's departure in late July.

Miller officially begins as Madison superintendent Tuesday, Sept. 6.

"I'm real excited to get started here. We're getting a bit of a late start, and Mrs. Everage has been worked to death, so we need to give her some relief. Working together, we'll do well," Miller said.

Miller comes to the Madison district from the Roxana School District, where he has served as assistant superintendent for the past nine years. Prior to that, Miller was principal of Roxana Junior High School for five years.

He said that in addition to wanting to be a superintendent, his desire to stay in the Metro-East area brought him to Madison.

"I knew Superintendent Kostencki well. He indicated it was a good place to work, and I saw opportunity there," Miller said.

After speaking with both Kostencki and the board, Miller said he is aware of what is ahead of him in Madison.

"There is a financial difficulty to deal with. That's the major priority. There is also the curriculum. We have a very fine assistant superintendent dealing with instruction. The intent is to keep her hard at work with

EPA halts city cleanup

Hearing set on restraining order

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

In what one Granite City official called an unprecedented move, the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency has agreed to halt cleanup operations that are currently under way in the city.

Attorneys for EPA, the parties potentially responsible for lead contamination and the city all agreed in a stipulation filed Tuesday morning in federal court in Benton that the agency would stop all residential soil excavation in a 55-block area of Granite City, Madison and Venice until Sept. 20, when a federal judge will hear testimony on a city motion for a temporary restraining order.

"As far as anyone can recall, this is the first time the EPA has backed down from a Superfund cleanup," Craig Tarpoiff said.

He and Assistant City Attorney Ed Fitzhenry said they were pleased with the stipulated agreement.

"We got what we asked for in this proposed soil cleanup that does not address the real health hazard posed to the community," Tarpoiff said.

The cleanup plan includes removing the top six inches of soil in a 55-square-block area where lead contamination levels are found to be 500 parts per million or more, and adding that contaminated soil to an existing 200,000-ton lead scrap pile at 15th and State streets.

But the city has urged the EPA to rethink its cleanup plan. In doing so, it cited a recent health study conducted by the Illinois Department of Public Health that found elevated blood lead in children to be the result of lead paint and dust in homes, the fact that groundwater contamination has been detected under the pile and the possibility that yards may become recontaminated.

The EPA began removing the topsoil from a number of residential yards Aug. 8, even though EPA officials had promised the city and a federal judge May 19 that they would be notified before work commenced.

Meanwhile, at least some residents whose yards are scheduled to be scraped are angry that the city is fighting the EPA action.

Stephanie Tinker and her 2-year-old daughter live in the 1400 block of State Street — one short block away from the lead pile.

She said that the city's effort to block the cleanup will cause the value of her property to decrease. She suggested that city leaders are conspiring to create a blighted area which they plan to tear down for the creation of a truck parking lot "to put me in debt forever and ever."

She said the team from OHM Company, the contractor doing the work for EPA, has been very efficient, professional and used every precaution to prevent recontamination or spread of contaminants.

Nestle delaying complete shutdown

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Nestle Beverage Co. will take a phased approach to the closing of its instant tea plant in Granite City.

In January, when plans to close the plant on Adams Street were announced, Nestle officials said the facility would be shuttered by the end of this year.

However, the final closing will not take place until late 1995, when instant tea manufacturing operations will be moved to the company's Freehold, N.J., plant, officials said this week.

Company officials told employees Tuesday about the plan to phase out operations here.

The company plans to relocate its packing operations gradually over the next few months, but maintain instant tea bulk manufacturing in Granite City through 1995, said Corporate Affairs Manager Andrea Cook.

The tea will be made in bulk and shipped to New Jersey for packaging, she said.

On Oct. 17 of this year, the leaf tea food service packing line will cease operations here and its equipment will be relocated. (See NESTLE, Page 10A)

Toddler crushed by pickup truck

By Bob Slate

Toy cars and trucks lay in the front lawn at 1966 S. St. Tuesday afternoon, but that was not unusual for this neighborhood.

In fact, young children can be seen playing with toys in nearly every yard on the block on any given day. Older boys and girls ride their bicycles in the street because there are no sidewalks. Most of the residences have fences enclosing the front yard.

But the playground on S. St. turned into a nightmare at 3:20 p.m. Tuesday when a 23-month-old girl playing in a driveway was crushed by a pickup truck driven by her aunt.

Cynthia Holland was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center, but was dead on arrival.

"She was bleeding profusely from the head when deputies arrived," Sheriff Bob Churchill said.

Prior to the accident, Churchill said, the aunt, Katherine Hartman, ran inside the house to tell relatives that she was taking her son to the hospital because he had cut his lip.

"The little girl was apparently in the house at

New pump to help alleviate Slough flooding

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Residents of easternmost Granite City and unincorporated Nameoki Township may be getting a little relief from years and years of stormwater problems.

Mayor Ron Selph and Metro East Sanitary District President Walter "Shang" Greathouse Sr. signed an intergovernmental agreement Monday initiating the next phase of a Dobby Slough flood control project.

Under the terms of the agreement, the Illinois Department of Transportation's Division of Water Resources will provide — at no cost to the city or MESD — a self-priming, centrifugal pump capable of carrying 900 gallons of water per minute.

The pump will be installed near the Dobby Slough and is designed to carry stormwater away from the flood-ravaged area.

Ken Davis, Nameoki Township supervisor, said that the new pump "will potentially alleviate other drainage problems (in the area between Dobby Slough and Horseshoe Lake) and encourage economic development in those areas."

He said the pump will be able to ease drainage problems in the area of the Legacy Golf Course and Subdivision, Partney Estates and Steelcrest Manor.

The state department of water resources is working on a plan to get the water out," Davis said.

Under the terms of the agreement, the state will provide the pump, the city will operate and maintain the system, and MESD will pay the utility bills on the pump and maintain a channel from the Slough to the pump station.

News in review provides a summary of some of the past week's stories. This column is designed for out-of-town readers who do not receive the Sunday and Wednesday Press-Record/Journals.

Robbery suspect captured

The man who allegedly robbed and brutally beat Granite City businessman Don Caughran last month is now behind bars. Richard D. Hart, 29, of Festus, Mo., was arrested in Fairview Heights Aug. 18. Hart was charged with armed robbery July 22 for allegedly using two weapons — a knife and a gallon can of paint stripper — during a robbery at Don Hardware store in the 1800 block of Delmar Avenue July 17. Caughran was working alone in the store at the time of the alleged robbery.

Woman found stabbed to death

Madison County authorities are still looking for clues into the stabbing death of Lavonda R. Nauden of East St. Louis. A passing motorist discovered Nauden's partially clothed body at about 8:30 a.m. Aug. 18 near Horseshoe Lake on Bend Road, just east of Highway 208 outside of the Madison city limits. Nauden was last seen leaving her home on foot at about 4 a.m., said Capt. Bob Hertz of the Madison County Sheriff's Department.

Transportation ideas to be studied

The Madison County Transit Authority and the county highway department received a $250,000 grant from the County Board Aug. 24 to study the future of transportation in the county and investigate various options, including an extension of light rail.

Car show to benefit APA

The Association for the Protection of Animals will hold a benefit car show at Weber Chevrolet from noon to 5 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 28, as a fund raiser.

The entry fee is $5 and prizes will be awarded to the top three cars in the categories of "Best in Show," "Best Paint" and "Best Stereo." The APA operates a no-kill animal shelter at 5000 Old Alton Road.

6 charged with pot distribution

Six men — including five from the Granite City area — were charged in connection with a marijuana distribution operation in the area.

County buys land for jail

The Madison County Board approved the purchase of two pieces of property adjacent to the jail Aug. 17 as part of a plan to expand the facility by 98 beds.

5 in running for post

Two former aldermen are on the "short list" of those being considered for the vacant position of Granite City economic development director.

Dan Brown, a former 4th Ward alderman who finished second in a 10-way race for mayor in 1993, and Paul Ray Bowler, a former 7th Ward alderman and school board member, are among five individuals who interviewed for the position last week.

Other applicants on the short list are Eric Wright, an employee of Peckham, Guyton, Albers and Viets Inc., a St. Louis architectural firm that has prepared plans for the city's proposed downtown development in the past; Neda Sanders, a recent magna cum laude graduate with a degree in political science, currently working as an administrative assistant with the Illinois Department of Mines and Minerals; and Franz Kranz, an urban planner who assisted with the preparation of the city's comprehensive development plan.

Industrial center opens

Belleville Area College celebrated a new beginning Friday with the grand opening of the Industrial Training Center at the Granite City Campus.

The 37,000-square-foot industrial center will offer programs including training in electrical, electronics, pipe fitting and millwright.

Dr. Joseph Cipri, president of BAC, said that he believes the new training center will act "as a magnet to attract new business and industry to the area and provide state-of-the-art opportunity."

KKK recruiting in county, NAACP says

Out-of-state Klan leaders will attend rally on Saturday

Various Ku Klux Klan groups are working hard to attract new members from the Madison County area, NAACP leaders said Thursday.

"I think they are getting members," said James Gray, president of the Alton branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "There's nothing we can do about it."

Gray said he hasn't heard of any KKK-fomented violence or intimidation but the groups' activities are still troubling.

"What they're doing is bad enough," he said. "If you teach children to hate, I don't think you can call yourself a Christian. They're preaching hatred and destruction."

The Federation of Klans plans a rally and cross lighting beginning at 5 p.m. Saturday near Litchfield.

The same organization sponsored a rally in May at the Montgomery County Courthouse in Hillsboro to oppose legal efforts to remove a sign declaring "The World Needs God" from the courthouse. A final court determination is pending.

Basil Sitzes of Cottage Hills, the federation's Illinois grand titan, said the Litchfield rally is being held to attract new members but also to keep faith with those who want the sign to remain. Litchfield is also in Montgomery County.

Sitzes said Klan officials attending the rally will include Ed Novak of Chicago, grand dragon and chairman of the organization's national council; Ron Edwards, grand dragon of Kentucky; and Kelly Glenn, grand dragon of Missouri.

Sitzes, Novak and other leaders broke away earlier this year from the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, a group based in Harrison, Ark., that has sponsored rallies this year in Springfield, Decatur and Edwardsville.

More recently, Dennis McGiffen of Wood River and other members of the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan claim to have ousted Knights Grand Wizard Thomas Robb, a claim that Robb denied in an interview Wednesday.

Robb, through an attorney, is demanding that McGiffen turn over a mailing list and quit using the Knights of the Ku Klux Klan name. Robb said McGiffen left his organization to form a new one.

The McGiffen group plans rallies in Vandalia Sept. 17 in Ohio on the Labor Day weekend and in Indiana on Oct. 1.

Johnny Scott, president of the East St. Louis branch of the NAACP, said there may be increasing interest in Klan activities, but he doubts the organizations are getting stronger.

"The Klan needs to make a move to increase membership if they are to maintain existence in the long run," Scott said.

"The Klan symbolizes hatred and those kinds of things that most Americans oppose," he said. "They haven't changed. They are not a positive or constructive force."

The Aug. 27 rally is on private property off Illinois Route 16 five miles east of Interstate 55.

Montgomery County Sheriff Jim Vazzi said the rally probably will cause law enforcement agencies less trouble than the Hillsboro rally.

"Our major concern will be traffic control," he said. Vazzi said the Hillsboro rally attracted about 100 people. Also on hand were about 100 police officers and there was no trouble, Vazzi said.

I-270 bridge being X-rayed for defects

The Interstate 270 bridge over the Mississippi River is being zapped with radiation, but there is no need for motorists to panic.

A replay of the multiple lane closures that occurred earlier this month is unlikely, although the Illinois Department of Transportation has hired a Detroit company to X-ray the structure.

XRI Co. is using a portable X-ray machine to examine all of the steel pins that connect support beams to the underside of the bridge. Two broken pins were discovered on the Illinois approach after it sank 4 inches Aug. 10. IDOT conducted ultrasonic tests on the bridge and found additional defective pins that resulted in various combinations of lane closures on the four-lane structure over several days.

The X-rays, which should be completed this week, have revealed one defective pin on the Missouri side. IDOT closed one eastbound and one westbound lane Friday to erect support scaffolding and replace the pin.

"We weren't really sure about it, so we put a support column under it," IDOT Operations Engineer Joe Crowe said. "We don't want to take any chances."

IDOT officials stressed there is no chance motorists will be endangered by radiation from the X-rays.

"It's safe for traffic to go over," IDOT Operations Engineer Joe Crowe said.

XRI employees, who are working under the bridge, attach the portable X-ray machine over the pins, each of which is 2 1/2 inches in diameter and 7 inches long. The workers get a safe distance away from the machine before activating it.

The machine uses 6 million volts for each of the X-rays, which are developed on site.

"I'm sure if you were standing up there it wouldn't be healthy," Crowe said. "But they get into position before they fire it up."

This is the first time IDOT has X-rayed a bridge, District Engineer Dale Klehr said.

"We hired an outside firm because we don't have the expertise," he said. "We're doing the X-rays as an extra precaution. With the ultrasonic, we get a direct look. We're X-raying the pins to make sure in our minds we don't have a situation develop like before."

instruction," said Miller.

Concerning teachers' contract negotiations, Miller said: "I know they're going on. Everyone seems hopeful a resolution can be made fairly soon."

Board President John Hamm III said he believes Miller brings expertise from his former position as assistant superintendent.

Hamm said Miller has dealt with many of the same people that Kostelnick dealt with.

"That should make it a smooth transition. The board is eager to get him on board and get everything up and running," Hamm said.

Everage said she is also hopeful about Miller's beginning with Madison.

"I'm excited. I'll miss Dan (Kostelnick), but I'm glad we got someone with Ken's abilities," she said.

Miller began his career in the educational field at Marseilles as a high school coach and math and English teacher, after completing undergraduate and graduate work at Eastern Illinois University.

Miller then moved on to Cairo, where he taught junior high math for three years. Later, after three years at Paris, Miller moved to the Roxana School District.

"This has made the people at IDOT more aware of our problems. It seems like each time we talk with them, more and more people realize what the situation is like out here," Affolter said.

The new pump replaces an older model that was installed in the area in 1976.

"I am encouraged by the cooperation between governmental agencies. It just shows what we can do if we all pull together," Selph said of the cooperative agreement.

Greathouse agreed. "The state has been very cooperative with us. This will do a great deal to alleviate drainage problems. It just goes to show that, if we all pull in the same direction, the state is willing to help out," Greathouse said.

Both Selph and Greathouse praised 7th Ward Alderman Kim Affolter, who spearheaded the project. But Affolter said she thinks the project is "just the beginning of a wonderful relationship."

THE LAW AND YOU

By RICK REED

Attorney At Law

Rick Reed, Attorney At Law

If a child injures another person due to the negligence of the minor, can the parents be held responsible? In many cases, this becomes an important question because the parents often have insurance to cover an injury whereas a child is not normally covered.

The general rule in Illinois is that parents are not liable for negligent injuries caused by their minor children merely because of the parent-child relationship. Parents may be found liable, however, if they fail to adequately control or supervise their children.

In one recent case, a fifteen year old girl got in her parents' car and began to drive it around the neighborhood. She went to the store, and when she returned home and pulled into the driveway, her foot slipped off the brake and onto the accelerator. The vehicle struck her friend and pushed her through the wall of the storage shed. The friend was seriously injured in the accident.

Testimony in the case indicated that the parents had never given permission to the child to drive any of the family vehicles. Apparently the minor previously started and moved the car in the driveway in order to wash it. Furthermore, the child periodically would start the car on cold mornings to warm it up. However, no family member had ever given her permission to drive it on the city streets.

Given the facts of this case, the trial court found that the parents were not responsible for the actions of their child in this situation. To establish negligent parental supervision in a case of this nature, the plaintiff would have to show that the parents were aware of specific instances of prior conduct sufficient to put them on notice that the act complained of was likely to occur. Furthermore, the injured party would have to demonstrate that the parents had an opportunity to control the child when the injury occurred.

In the case noted above, the injured plaintiff failed to show that the parents had given permission to drive the vehicle or that they had any prior knowledge of the fifteen year old driving on occasion. Furthermore, they were not home on the night of the incident in question. Given these facts, the parents could not be held responsible.

Bathon defends his travel record, claims harassment

Madison County Auditor Fred Bathon says he's being harassed by two disgruntled County Board members who have demanded a look at his travel vouchers.

Bathon, who has spent nearly $4,000 for travel since Nov. 1, said he stands by his records, which he plans to submit Thursday in response to a Freedom of Information Act request filed last week.

Board members Jack Frandsen and Don Garrett have demanded copies of Bathon's travel records and those of all his employees dating to Nov. 1.

"Frandsen and Garrett have chosen the floor of the County Board to harass me and my staff," Bathon said Tuesday. "I believe these attacks are personal in nature because of the impact the changing mileage policies has had on these two. They were always the highest paid before the changes, and now they're taking cuts."

"When we travel, it's for a reason," Bathon said. "In order to meet Continued Professional Education (program) standards, I have to travel. I have to keep this office up to date on training and education. All of my travel is justified. We've earned 56 CPD hours since November."

Bathon has been the target of County Board attacks since September 1992 when The Alton Telegraph revealed Garrett had submitted mileage claims for travel to nonexistent committee meetings. Bathon was not the source of the information.

Garrett blamed Bathon for the disclosure, and other board members have also gone after Bathon, holding him responsible for Finance Committee moves to tighten the rules regarding travel reimbursements.

Bathon claims Frandsen and Garrett are disgruntled because their average monthly mileage reimbursements have been cut since new policies were adopted in September 1992.

Garrett's monthly average fell from $149 in 1992 to $72 in 1994, according to Bathon. Frandsen's monthly reimbursements fell from $132 to $73.

"I don't make decisions on which county official travels or attends conferences," Bathon said. "My job is to make sure the County Board rules are followed."

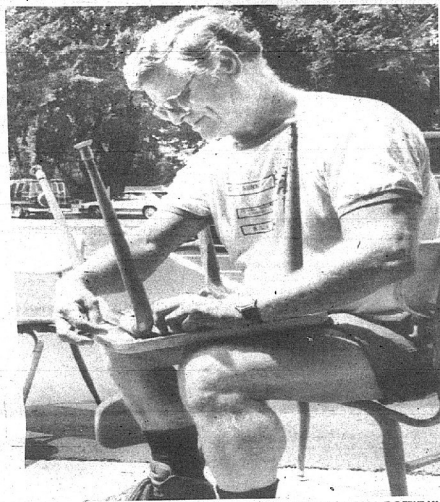

"I'm going to give those two (board members) copies of my travel records Thursday, and I hope it puts an end to this so we can function normally," he said. "I am opposed to their duplicate efforts to make an issue of this. I'm tired of being harassed. These two are mad about the cuts in their mileage reimbursements, but I'm sure the taxpayers are not."

Pontoon negotiating for motel

By Hiley Schulte
Staff writer

Pontoon Beach may soon see a few new faces around town with the addition of a motel on the bridge. At the regular Pontoon Beach Board of Trustees meeting Tuesday night, the board authorized Mayor Glen Wilson to begin negotiations with Days Inn Motel, which is considering locating at Highway 111 south of Omni Bank.

Clerk Lou Whitsell said the village has so far dealt through R. C. Bush of the Tri-Cities Area Chamber of Commerce about the new motel.

"I have been in contact with some people who are interested in putting a motel there. I don't know for sure that it will be a Days Inn, but that is one of the franchises available to them," Bush stated.

Bob Brockland and Brockland Pontiac had originally considered locating at the site, but according to Whitsell, Brockland wants to locate closer to Interstate 270.

Other future additions to Pontoon Beach possibly include three ball diamonds. Kathy Hopke and Tracy Bandy, both Pontoon Beach mothers, addressed the board Tuesday for donations to the project, which could be completed by next summer.

The women are "trying to start an athletic club here for our children. We wish to start a basketball and softball league as a division of the George Khoury Association," they stated in a letter to the board.

The Pontoon Beach Baptist Church at Pontoon Road and Highway 111 offered an adjoining land for three ball diamonds, but details of the donation are yet to be negotiated.

Village Attorney Keith Jensen agreed to be present during the land negotiation to possibly offer village support. The board also agreed to help with the project in whatever capacity possible.

Mobile home at stables under attack

Pontoon Beach officials are trying to head off a potential zoning problem at Gateway Stables.

On July 13, Kelly Arnold, owner of the stables, was notified that she violated a village zoning ordinance by placing a mobile home on Gateway Stables' property. The property is not zoned for such placement.

The village informed her that removal of the mobile home must be accomplished within 15 days of receipt of the letter. Violation of the ordinance is a misdemeanor and subject to a fine up to $500. Each day of the continued violation constitutes a separate additional violation.

The mobile home is still on the property, and Clerk Lou Whitsell said Tuesday that one criminal complaint has already been filed.

"She has been violating and violating and violating ordinance. I think something should be done with her business license now," said Building Inspector Bob Barthelmy.

Trustee Mike Macek commented that many children in Pontoon Beach utilize the services of the stable, and that before acting on the business license, someone should speak with Arnold.

"Someone should sit down and talk with her. This would hurt more than her business; it would hurt the kids," he said.

The board agreed that Macek should speak with Arnold. If the mobile home is not removed within 10 days of the meeting, the board agreed to act on the business license.

RITE OF CHRISTIAN INITIATION OF ADULTS will begin Sept. 8, 7:00 P.M., at Holy Family Catholic Church, 26th & Washington. We invite all who have an interest in the Catholic faith to join us in this "Journey of Faith."

This program explains Catholicism, and if you choose, welcomes you to our Church at the Easter Vigil.

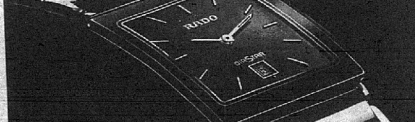

Weekly gatherings give in-depth information about the Faith. If you are searching for that something lacking in your life; if you've thought you might like to know more about the Catholic faith, this might be the answer.

Fr. Tom Wise and the RCIA team invites everyone with the slightest interest in Catholicism to join us to have their questions answered and to learn more about Catholic Christianity.

If you would like to come to the first meeting, let us hear from you. Call Fr. Wise at 877-1158 or 452-8244 or stop by the Community Center behind the Church on Sept. 8, at 7:00 P.M., to meet us and discuss some of the basics of RCIA.

If you can't make our first night, let us know and we will give you information on our program.

Be sure to mark your calendar for September 8, at 7:00 P.M., Holy Family Catholic Church, Community Center.

Decision insults voters

(This editorial is reprinted from the Alton Telegraph.)
A majority of the Illinois Supreme Court justices handed the state's voters an equal dose of injury and insult last week by barring a vote in November on term limits and not even bothering to explain why.

In a vote split on geographic lines, a majority of four justices, all from northern Illinois, turned thumbs down on a referendum asking voters whether state legislators should be limited to no more than eight years in office. The justices barred the State Board of Elections from putting the referendum on the Nov. 3 ballot.

The referendum was proposed in an initiative petition signed by more than 400,000 Illinois voters and presumably would have been on the ballot if the court had not intervened. The court's ruling was based on a lawsuit filed by the Chicago Bar Association, which argued that the state Constitution allows initiative-petition referendums only on issues concerning the "structural and procedural subjects" of the Legislature.

Since they didn't bother to explain their ruling, one can only presume that the four justices in the majority bought that argument.

But State Treasurer Patrick Quinn, who lent his populist reputation to the petition drive, had another interpretation, laying the referendum's defeat to the clout of Chicago politicians.

Those of us who live Downstate can at least appreciate the dissent of the justices whom we have elected to the court. Writing the dissenters' opinions, Justice Moses Harrison of Madison County stated the obvious: "Drafters of our Constitution intended." Harrison added that his colleagues' ban of a vote on the referendum "...venerates the power of our incumbent legislators and demeans the intelligence of their constituents."

Quinn says supporters of the referendum may file a petition asking the court to rehear the matter, but he acknowledges that is a "long shot."

The justices' ruling is another sad and tawdry chapter in Illinois political and judicial history. Not too long ago, the thin-skinned justices railed and wailed at great length against a Chicago newspaper columnist whom they thought was picking on them because of their controversial ruling in an adoption custody case.

Now, with 400,000 Illinoisans awaiting an explanation, they reply with cowardly silence.

50 years of marriage

A personal landmark today, and I can't let it pass without comment.

Fifty years of the better and worse, richer and poorer, sickness and health, and while Ed might think of us as fifty years with the wrong woman and I as fifty years of bad road, we agreed to call it true, be nice to each other, and try to look like Darby and Joan.

There was a time when some editor or another would put me out to interview a couple who were observing just such an anniversary and, almost invariably, these kindly, sweet old things would assure me that, over 50 years (or more), they'd never exchanged a harsh word, never argued, always lived in peaceful harmony. And I would ask myself if they were simply good liars or if senility had set in?

Perhaps one or the other hadn't been too bright to begin with? Real married life is apt to consist of more public battles than George Foreman and Muhammad Ali fought put together. Pay no attention to that pacifist advice of never going to bed angry — stay up and fight!

Our wedding day wasn't precisely the ideal. Whatever could go wrong, did go wrong and, together and apart, we spent it in some very unlikely places. Hours on end in Union Station, meeting trains — my parents arriving from Michigan, Ed and his mother from Connecticut — and trying to track down his best man. Shutting back and forth between the St. Louis Archdiocese office and St. Rose of Lima's rectory. Ed's last-minute blood test at the city's VD clinic — ask him about that sometime!

We realized as zero hour approached that we'd failed to make hotel reservations for the night. Less stubborn people than we were would probably have thrown up their hands and said, "The hell with it!" In retrospect, I've got to admit our planning skills weren't finely honed.

Some people think that once you've hit the big five-oh, you're probably full of advice as to what makes a marriage work. Think again. We only get older, not wiser. Luck plays a role. I suspect. Patience helps, as does stubbornness — "I'm gonna make something of this man (or woman) if it's the last thing I do out."

Carol

In our case, our generation was important, I think. We didn't expect the world with a fence around it and we tended to take promises seriously. Divorce wasn't as commonplace, was indicative of failure and a last resort. Of the nine girls in my old crowd (and still my best friends), only one failed to marry — and none has been divorced. This year marks 50th anniversaries for six of us, though two of those are now widowed.

When, and if, the thought of divorce flitted across our minds, none of us wanted to add to some lawyer's stock portfolio and the fellows may have remembered that the last lasts only for the length of a marriage, but an ex-wife is there for the rest of your life. Some ladies recalled the advice that a woman should trust her husband, adore her husband, and get everything she can in her own name. Come hell or high water, we were in it for the long haul!

Above all — the love and luck, patience, perseverance, tolerance, and all that good stuff there's one essential, to me, that makes the confines of matrimony less sticky and that's a sense of humor.

The ability to laugh not just at your partner but also at yourself, and all the godawful winking blocks that litter the rocky road you're traveling. When the day comes that I can't find something funny about Ed or myself, or the pair of us, you might as well write "finitis."

Right now, I'm ready to try for St. Louis. Forget tottering off hand in hand into the sunset. How about just one more time! And I've ways to tempt a girl ought to dance with the guy who brought her.

Letters policy

The Granite City Press-Record/Journal welcomes letters to the editor. The newspaper provides the "Letters" column to give readers an opportunity to voice opinions on various items of interest.

Letters should be brief, preferably less than 10 paragraphs. Typed letters, or letters that are neatly written and locally originated letters, but letters from outside the area are accepted.

Each letter must be signed and include the telephone number and address of the sender and city will be printed, but letters may be called for verification purposes.

Show blends melodies, nostalgia

I had the opportunity to attend most of the seven 1994 shows of the Municipal Opera, except for the opening scene on a new record for average nightly attendance.

Like many Midwesterners, I preferred the summer season's finale, Meredith Willson's "The Music Man."

The plot is not about Illinois, except for the opening scene on a Rock Island Railroad train. The passenger coach is carrying traveling salesmen westward. The locale of the play is Iowa, where I've made many visits to my late mother-in-law's home town.

Willson wrote about the mythical town of River City and chose the year of 1912, when innocence was bliss and the populace offered ripe financial pickings for an unscrupulous band instrument salesman.

What makes it perhaps the best musical of all time is the beauty of the melodies and lyrics and the smooth way in which the 19 songs help tell the story of small-town America in the pre-World War I era.

In those days, "swell" was a naughty word, pool tables were the devil's playground and it was considered offensive for jockeys to ride directly on race horses instead of trailing them in a buggy.

Bill
Winter

Not having much of a singing voice myself, I've always admired barbershop quartets. It was the Buffalo Bills in the "Music Man" movie starring Shirley Jones and Robert Preston, and the foursome this month on the Mundy stage in St. Louis was the "Gashouse Gang."

The quartet sang "Sincere," "Goodnight Ladies," "It's You" and my personal favorite, "Lida Rose."

"Lida Rose" was repeated, while "Marian, the librarian," Elizabeth Walsh in the Shirley Jones role, simultaneously sang a beautiful "Till There Was You."

In another blending of songs, she and "Professor Harold Hill," Joel Higgins in the title role, sang "76 Trombones" and "Goodnight My Someone" (the same tune as "76" but vastly different in tempo).

Marian's young brother, "Winthrop Paroo," portrayed well by Daniel Estrin, was immortalized in the motion picture by eight-year-old Ronnie Howard, now a successful film director.

Although unrelated to the best-selling book, "The Bridges of Madison County," the setting of the River City play is in Madison County. Scenes in the open-air production included the Madison Gymnasium, Madison Library and Madison Park.

"Bridges," incidentally, currently is being filmed in Iowa and will feature Clint Eastwood and Meryl Streep.

As noted, there is no connection between the sophisticated "Bridges" and "Music Man's" 82-year-old story, first presented on Broadway in 1957.

Meredith Willson had a good understanding of life in this century's teen years and it was captured perfectly in the dialogue, costumes and musical selections.

Willson wrote the book, music and lyrics except for "Goodnight Ladies" and won many awards for his wit, humor and insight.

Willson wrote, "Here is my question, not fancy or fine: Lida Rose, won't you be mine?" I've always hoped to, but I can see how a traveling man could fall in love with a librarian who sounded and looked as sweet as Shirley Jones.

In the play, the professor was skilled at leaving town at the crucial time, after he had collected for uniforms and instruments and before he had to actually show any youngsters how to play music. This time, he got my foot caught in the door and stayed on in River City to marry Marian and live happily ever after.

As explained in the program notes, "Through some incredible magic wrought by belief and by love, the band comes through in rousing style. Harold Hill has found his 'someone,' and he leads the 76 trombones through the town in triumph."

At the end of the play, trombones may not have actually totaled 76 but the big stage was completely filled with young musicians.

It's nice to see a happy ending, and it was clear that the audience of more than 11,000 had collectively "caught its foot in the door" and was entranced by the performance despite the arrival of light rain in the closing scenes.

"How could there be any sin in sincere?"

There couldn't, and "The Music Man" was sheer joy, I say sincerely.

Rotary thanked for program help

TO THE EDITOR:

On Thursday, Aug. 18, the Koch Family Health Center/St. Elizabeth Medical Center, in cooperation with the Granite City School District and the Granite City Rotary Club, offered immunizations, lead screenings, TB tests and school physicals at Marshall School.

This is part of a program started earlier this year by community organizations, school districts and St. Elizabeth Medical Center to ensure area children are up-to-date on immunizations and physicals.

The immunization/physical program at Marshall School was the third time we have been able to offer these services. The first was May 3 at Blair School in Venice and then July 21 at Prather School in Granite City.

We were very fortunate this last time to have the support of the Granite City Rotary Club. The Rotary paid the administration fee for all immunizations and TB tests given at Marshall School and the State of Illinois provided the vaccines; thus 173 children were immunized free.

This was a very generous gift to the community from the Rotary and we would like to thank them. Not only did they pick up the tab, but the members of the Rotary were also on hand to help with multiple duties, including measuring and weighing all the children.

As noted, 173 children and their parents took advantage of the immunization/physical program. Because of this overwhelming response, there were lines and a bit of a wait for many people. We would like to say "thank you" to everyone for being so patient, well behaved and good humored. Your cooperation and patience were instrumental in the overall success of the program.

We are so pleased to be able to provide these services to the community school children for years to come.

Sincerely,

Endorsements not reflective

TO THE EDITOR:
Recently, it was published in local newspapers that AFSCME Local 799 endorsed specific candidates in the upcoming November election. These endorsements are not necessarily reflective of the membership's view as evident in the recent union meeting held Aug. 16.

Apparently, a few select members in leadership spoke without first consulting the membership and falsely implied that the membership supported the endorsed candidates. Union members are in no way in agreement with the endorsement and take offense that a "rubber stamp" endorsement was made.

Specific endorsement that are not wholeheartedly approved by the membership are those of county board members and specifically County Treasurer John Shimkus. At the recent union meeting when the endorsements were discussed, it appeared treasurer candidate Mick Henkhaus had the support of the rank and file.

The entire membership of AFSCME Local 799 does not endorse John Shimkus and I present the fact that we as members were not consulted before any endorsement was made.

Normandy visit

TO THE EDITOR:

This is the 50th anniversary of the historic D-Day landing in Normandy, France, of World War II, and I had the occasion last week to visit Omaha Beach, Normandy, where the great invasion took place. It is a sight to remember and to view the American Cemetery where nearly 10,000 American soldiers are buried in this magnificent surrounding area.

Normandy is a scenic area, and our three-hour bus trip from Paris through the small villages was a thrilling experience to see the beautiful small homes, the immaculate lawns and the flowers hanging on the balconies of these homes.

Paris and the whole of France is a very clean country. The streets in Paris are swept mechanically each day and sometimes small homes, and straw brooms painted green are used to sweep the litter into the gutters. Each street corner has a green container for trash.

Needed: A few good leaders Girl Scouts begin fall recruiting campaign

By Hilley Schulte
Staff writer

River Bluffs Girl Scout Council is launching its adult recruitment campaign for the 1994-95 school year. The primary focus is the need for adults to work directly with children as troop leaders or assistant leaders, but there are many other opportunities to work in other support areas like making telephone calls, providing paperwork services, sharing a skill or hobby or helping with transportation.

"While we served over 10,000 girls this past year, there were close to 1,000 girls throughout the council's 5 1/2-county jurisdiction who could not be members due to the lack of adult volunteers," said Diane Busch, director of field services for the council. Locally, Kathy Lickenbrock, a leader and neighborhood co-chairman in the Granite City area, said that several Girl Scout leaders are needed, especially in the Marshall and Lake Elementary school areas. However, assistance is needed everywhere in the Granite City area.

In the Granite City/Mitchell/Pontoon Beach district, there are 655 girls in 56 troops with 167 adult volunteers serving Daisy, Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Mariner troops.

The district covers Prather, Worthen (Parkview), Frohardt, Wilson, Mitchell, Niedringhaus, Maryville, Lake, Marshall, Holy Family and St. Elizabeth's elementary schools. Grigsby, Coolidge and Granite City High School are also served. In the Madison/Venice district, 172 girls are in six troops with 44 volunteers serving Brownie and Junior troops. Vera Browley is the neighborhood chairman for the Madison/Venice district.

Liz Lengyel, another leader and neighborhood co-chairman in the Granite City area, said that attempts are being made to have at least one individual in charge of each school. However, she said the ideal situation would be to have an individual and troop for each grade level. The recruiting individual passes out fliers when school starts. Parents fill out the flier if the child is interested in Girl Scouts.

There is also a section on the flier for parent participation. "We'd love to have more parent participation," said Lengyel.

Lengyel said posters are also being placed in local businesses to recruit adults for all kinds of positions, including troop organizers, leaders and committee members who train the girls how to sell cookies.

"The primary source for adult leaders has traditionally been mothers of girls in the troop, but with changes in today's society due to the ever increasing number of single parents and working mothers, we are making a push to actively recruit outside of our traditional source so that every girl who wants to join can be a Girl Scout," she said.

"That often requires changing the public's perception of who can be a leader," Busch stated.

The first myth is that a Girl Scout adult volunteer must be a female. Men may serve as leaders as well. "There are just as many dads who love their daughters as mothers, and this is the perfect way for a father to have fun in a meaningful program with his daughter and her friends," Busch said.

The second myth is that volunteers have to be parents. Busch said that while parents do make great leaders, so do many other people such as single, career-oriented persons, young married persons without children or retirees. Adults must be 18 years of age and persons who enjoy working with the children and other adults.

Busch said: "I'm not going to say that everything about being a leader is easy. Nothing worthwhile in life is ever easy. But I can't think of anything more important than the future of our young girls."

Busch said that if another 135 to 150 adults would have volunteered across the council's jurisdiction last year, all the girls who wanted to be Girl Scouts would have been served.

"That doesn't seem like many people in a way, but if more volunteers and staff have not been successful in their recruitment attempts, it makes for a lot of disappointed girls," said Busch.

For more information about being a volunteer, contact the River Bluffs Girls Scout Council at 692-0692.

First dormitories being completed

Students converge on SIUE campus

Hordes of students arrived at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville hauling their worldly belongings and got the chance to meet the craftsmen who are still finishing the campus' first residence hall. Despite the hustle and bustle of electricians and construction workers, the still unnamed residence hall had the welcome mat ready.

SIUE President Nancy Belck, dressed in a white suit, even helped carry bags and belongings to rooms last Friday. The first of 350 students signed up for the new residence hall converged on campus Friday as electricians installed light fixtures in the lobby and other craftsmen nailed and hammered and moved construction materials.

Outside, concrete workers tried to install a sidewalk and driveway in the midst of the onslaught of mostly freshmen and their families.

Volunteers helped the students load flatbed carts and maneuver through the single-wide front door. Television sets of all sizes, radios, refrigerators and loads of survival food tottered precariously on top of clothing boxes.

"The parents and students have been very positive," Belck said. "A number of parents say this is smoother than other places they have moved their children. Everybody has pitched in."

Michael Schultz, university director of housing, said the lobby and exterior concrete work should be completed within a week. A social wing with kitchenette and computers will take three weeks to finish, he said, and some empty rooms are not done. The $11.4 million hall eventually will house 500 students.

Nancy and Steve Chace of Bloomington arrived with son Dan to move in his belongings. Eying the flurry of construction workers and snake-like lengths of conduit hanging from the ceiling, she warily asked a volunteer, "What do the rooms look like?" The worker assured her, "Perfect."

Another mother was laughing and snapping photos of the tradesmen in the lobby. "I think this is too funny," chuckled Beverly Dixon of Florissant, Mo. All assigned rooms were finished, except for minibuild installations and the obligatory poster hanging to be done by the students themselves.

Each room has two twin beds about 3 feet high, with a chest of drawers and storage space underneath. Each student has a desk equipped with shelves for books or a computer. There is a bathroom for every two rooms, and students are required to clean them on schedule.

Although the rooms may resemble the dormitories of old, campus living has changed in the 1990s. There is more security; students need identification cards to enter the living quarters. But gone are curfews, bed checks, visitation rules and other limits.

Workers carry supplies into the new dormitories on the campus of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Students need identification cards to enter the living quarters. But gone are curfews, bed checks, visitation rules and other limits.

Schultz said even the word "dormitory" is out. "It is not called dorm life anymore. It is not just a place to sleep. There is space for computers, for quiet study, to cook in a kitchenette."

He said more social events are planned because of the additional students living on campus, such as a dozen movies per month, more dances and intramural sports.

Schultz said the ratio of women to men in the residence hall is 60-to-40. There are two women's wings, one for men, a quiet wing and four coed wings. The hall has no cafeteria; students eat at University Center.

A number of students and their parents said they would not have chosen SIUE if there was no residence hall.

Kim Lovejoy of Litchfield said, "If they didn't have dorms, I don't think I would have come. I'm really glad they have them."

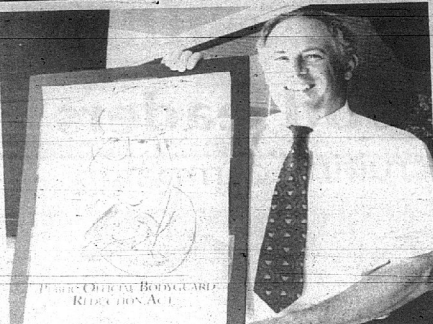

She said her "initiation" as one of the first students to live in the hall would be worth a tale or two in the future.

She said she was disappointed that the room was not bigger but added, "This is OK. I think I'm going to like this."

She had just met her new roommate, Jan Ledermann, and said she thought they would get along, particularly since they both liked theater.

Nancy Chace said her son would have enrolled at SIUE regardless of whether there was a dorm, but she said she was glad he didn't have to deal with the worries of apartment living.

Quinn claims savings from bodyguard cuts

By Ellen Drenkhahn
Correspondent

Illinois State Treasurer Patrick Quinn promised Sunday that he could cut spending in the state budget by more than $1 million by eliminating bodyguards for elected state officials.

Currently any elected official in Illinois who wants a bodyguard can have one — at taxpayers' expense.

During a press conference in front of the Illinois Department of Transportation building in Collinsville, Quinn said one of the biggest abusers of this taxpayer-financed security detail is Secretary of State George Ryan, who Quinn said has racked up a bodyguard tab in excess of $1.3 million.

Quinn is the Democratic candidate for Secretary of State and will oppose Ryan in the November elections.

Quinn is on the record as never having used a bodyguard while in office.

Quinn said it was the abuse of power and taxpayers' money that spurred him to author a bill called the "Public Official Bodyguard Reduction Act of 1994."

The bill's co-sponsors, Reps. Larry Woodard of Marion and Clem Balanoff of Chicago, are expected to introduce the bill when the legislature reconvenes in the fall.

If enacted, the bill would provide security protection only for the governor and gubernatorial candidates. That privilege would be extended to other elected officials who could show just cause for the security protection through court order from a judge.

"It's like carte blanche for bodyguards. You want one — or six or seven — who is going to stop you? That is what this bill is all about. Let's put our state troopers back on the street and get them off the golf course," Quinn said.

Quinn said Ryan has employed up to seven bodyguards, many of whom are state police officers, as around-the-clock protection to the tune of $1.3 million. Bodyguards have accompanied Ryan on all of his official functions and trips, as well as his vacations and golf outings, Quinn charged.

"We're talking about trained professionals being used not to protect working men and women as they drive on Illinois highways. The number of state troopers has dropped 17 percent, while crime and traffic fatalities have increased since Ryan was elected in 1990. Now these highly trained professionals are being used as baggage handlers and chauffeurs, and companions," Quinn said.

"One state trooper was forced to go with Ryan and his wife on a golfing vacation to Scotland. The trooper was reported to have complained about carrying all the luggage. Then there was the trip to Hawaii. You can't tell me that George Ryan was in such fear of his life that he had to take bodyguards to Hawaii, where they wouldn't know George Ryan from a bale of hay," chided Quinn.

Nameoki Township plans health fair

Nameoki Township will sponsor a health fair for residents from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Friday, Sept. 30. The program is being provided at the Township Hall with the assistance of St. Elizabeth Medical Center. Free cholesterol screening, blood sugar analysis, influenza vaccination, blood pressure and pulse screenings will be offered to township residents.

Fine arts festival this weekend

By Kelly Kribben
Staff writer

The seventh annual Midwest Salute to the Masters festival of fine art will once again be held in Fairview Heights this weekend.

The event, listed among the top 100 fine art fairs in the United States by Sunshine Artists magazine, will take place Saturday and Sunday in Longacre Park.

The free festival is open Saturday, from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. and Sunday, from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

This exhibition, sale and competition consists of more than 10,000 works including traditional, contemporary and unique art forms from 100 nationally acclaimed artists from all over the United States.

"This is probably the finest tourist event that takes place in Southern Illinois and we've noticed an increase in attendance," said Mark Westhoff, director of the Southwestern Illinois Tourism and Convention Bureau. "This year, exceptional, early planning has gone into literally every aspect of the Salute to the Masters. This is the finest quality art show in the nation."

Art exhibited for the competition and sale range from the priceless to the affordable and works include: paintings; sculptures; photography; ceramics; glass; jewelry; and fine paper art.

"Works are not out of the financially affordable," Westhoff said. "This is better than art at furniture stores and priced equitably."

The festival attracts visitors from as far away as Chicago, many of who buy an original piece each year.

"The Salute to the Masters is a real coup for the city of Fairview Heights," Westhoff said. "This is a fine arts show, not a craft show."

Promoters said many local children have acquired their first appreciation for original fine art at the festival's "For Children Only" gallery, where youngsters can explore various art forms, talk with the artists and purchase their favorite original pieces of art for about $5.

She was preceded in death by her mother, Eliza (Gibson) Dukes.

Visitation is from 4 to 9 p.m. today at Werner Chapel for Funerals, 3939 Lake Drive, Ponton Beach, where services are at 1:30 p.m. Friday. Burial will be in St. John Cemetery, Granite City.

mid-November, production of Nestle Ice Teasers tea and fruit flavored drink mix will cease with equipment and manufacturing to be relocated at a later date.

By the fourth quarter of this year, Nestle will begin transferring packing equipment for Nestle instant tea to Freehold, where glass jars will be packed beginning in February 1995.

During the phased reduction in operations, the company is working closely with union officials to smooth the transition for employees, Cook said.

Reduction of the workforce of 162 will initially be achieved through a voluntary severance package.

The plant has been in operation in Granite City for more than 50 years. The consolidation of operations was prompted by increasing competition in the soft drink market, company officials said.

Local arrangements were by Werner Chapel for Funerals, Ponton Beach.

Memorials are requested for the American Heart Association.

Additional expansion urged for juvenile detention center

The Madison County Juvenile Detention Center may not be big enough to handle a rising tide of young inmates, despite an 11-bed expansion already under way, a county official has warned.

Auditor Fred Bathon is encouraging county officials to consider an additional 10 beds to help fight overcrowding and keep the County Board from being forced to shift increasing sums of money from other county departments to pay the home's day-to-day operating expenses.

"This would handle our needs for the next 10 to 20 years vs. the current expansion which in many respects already obsolete," Bathon told the Finance Committee last week.

The ongoing $1.6 million expansion and re-roofing of the juvenile home would increase capacity from 21 to 32 beds, upgrade the facilities to meet state building codes and bring an end to chronic ceiling leaks.

But Bathon warned that the expanded facility may already be obsolete since the center's population routinely tops 30.

In addition, the lack of extra beds cuts the opportunity to take in out-of-county juveniles for $70 per day. Last year, the county took in $177,000 to house the juveniles from other counties, but the revenue is projected to total no more than $61,500 this year because of the dwindling number of empty beds available, county figures showed.

"For the past 10 years, the juvenile home has been a self-sustaining operation, but when we sit down to formulate the budget (this fall) it's going to be much more difficult to make ends meet out there," Bathon said.

As a result, Bathon suggested the Finance Committee consider expanding the facility to 42 beds, in addition to building a separate 10-bed structure to house the Educational Therapy Center, a nonprofit social services agency that would pay $45,000 in annual rent to use the space.

The 42-bed project would drive the cost of the entire expansion from $1.6 million to more than $2 million. The 10-bed therapy center would add another $350,000 to the cost, officials said.

However, Bathon said the added cost may stave off financial problems for the juvenile home later.

The 32-bed expansion now under way would require more than $820,000 in subsidies over the next three years to stay open, as opposed to $385,000 in subsidies for a 42-bed facility and therapy center, county figures showed.

Committee members took no formal action Thursday but agreed to make a decision on both the juvenile home and a proposed jail expansion in time for the Sept. 21 County Board meeting.

Last month, officials decided to alter jail expansion plans to provide an additional 100 beds.

The new jail expansion proposal would drive costs from $3 million to $4.5 million, not including real estate purchases.

However, Finance Committee members are waiting to decide on how to fund the jail project until Gov. Jim Edgar decides whether to sign a bill allowing Madison County to extend the 1.74-cent jail tax to pay for renovations.

Returning seniors lead '94 Warriors

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The Warrior soccer team spent much of last season battling injuries and searching for the right chemistry.

They found it near the end of the year when they won nine straight games before falling to Collinsville in the finals of the Granite City Sectional.

GRANITE CITY looks to carry that momentum into this season, its 22nd under coach Gene Baker. Five returning starters, all seniors, will be in the lineup Saturday when the Warriors travel to Peoria Richwoods.

A sixth, Paulie Bucherich, is still recovering from knee surgery performed during the off-season and hopes to join the Warriors sometime this fall. Baker said the Warriors appear to be rounding into shape as the season approaches.

"It's a strong group," Baker said. "We're moving the ball well right now. The kids have been experienced and very enthusiastic."

Leading the way for the Warriors this season are a handful of seniors who started as sophomores two years ago. The group includes Bucherich and is headed by tri-captain Shawn Petroski, who led the team in scoring last year with 16 goals.

PETROSKI, A 6-0, 205-pound forward, added strength during the off-season and is one of the team's most capable scorers. He is in line for another productive year offensively.

"Petroski looks to have a good year," Baker said. "He's a big, strong-shouldered kid. He's got great feet." John Nizinski returns in the midfield for his third year as a starter. Nizinski has had a strong preseason after scoring eight goals last year.

Corey Kessler is scoring in practice," Baker said. Corey Kessler, another third-year starter and a tri-captain, returns to the team in better shape after playing through injuries most of last year. Kessler scored one of the biggest goals of the year when he connected late in regulation in a 1-0 victory over Edwardsville in the sectional semifinals.

LIKE PETROSKI, Kessler has added size to his frame and will give the Warriors some extra size in the midfield.

"We think Kessler is a great player," Baker said. "He's strong as an ox."

Petroski, Nizinski and Kessler will be joined by senior Matt Little, a third-year starter who was sidelined by injuries for much of last season. Little will start in the midfield along with junior Justin McMillian.

Paulie Bucherich will be one of the Warriors' key players when he returns from an injury.

McMillian is a blue-chip junior," Baker said. Granite City will have five more seniors in the starting lineup Saturday, two of whom started last season: forward Scott Nemeth and goalkeeper Mike Bristol.

Nemeth missed several games because of injuries last season and scored two goals. He will play up front with Petroski. Bristol, the Warriors' third captain, made several starts last season in goal and will be backed up by Jason York.

"NEMETH AND Petroski complement each other well," Baker said. "Nemeth has come back strong this year."

'94 Warriors' first test: Comanches' quickness

By R.J. Gerber
Staff writer

Don Harris seems to have the Granite City High football program going in the right direction.

After winning one game in his first season at the helm, Harris lifted the Warriors to a 4-5 campaign in 1993. But with only three returning starters from last year's squad, Harris might need more time to put together his first winning season.

AND WITH F R I D A Y night's opening opponent, Harris knows his youthful Warriors could get down early. Cahokia, which is coming off its best season in school history, returns several skill players from a 9-3 season in 1993.

The Comanches will visit Granite City for a 7:30 p.m. matchup at Memorial Stadium.

"The difficult part is adjusting to their overall team speed," Harris said. "We just can't practice against that. It takes the kids the first part of the game to get used to that. With so much inexperience, we don't understand that quickness."

Nonetheless, the Comanches and their explosive offense will come calling with hopes of repeating last year's 20-6 victory. But Cahokia will have to handle Pat Curry, perhaps the top two-way player in the area.

THE 6-3, 285-pound full-back/linebacker is being recruited by nearly every major college program in the nation. Curry has the size, quickness and strength to dominate at the high school level.

"Fat came in in great shape and he's on horse," Harris said. "He really wants to have a good senior year, and he's focused."

Harris is also relying on a pair of junior returnees in tackle Chris Janek (6-1, 260) (See FOOTBALL, Page 2B)

2 ex-Warriors help lead SIUE women

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

The SIUE women's soccer team exceeded coach Brian Korbesmeyer's expectations by far last year when it reached the national tournament for the first time in school history.

But history is just where Korbesmeyer prefers to leave last year's dream season.

"WE HAD A nice run, but last year is over," said Korbesmeyer, in his sixth year with SIUE. "We had a season-opening talk about what we achieved last year, and I said that was the last time we would talk about it."

"The question is, are we going to take it a step further and get better because of last year."

The Cougars return virtually their entire lineup from last year's 11-7-1 team, including Granite City High School products Stephanie Kult and Amanda Witter.

SIUE lost just two seniors and returns its leading scorer, Lori Wiese.

The Cougars peaked at the right time last year, winning seven of their final eight regular-season games to earn a bid to the six-team NCAA Division II national tournament. The Cougars traveled to Miami, Fla., to take on Barry University in the quarterfinals and lost 2-1.

THE SAME TWO teams met earlier in the season, and Barry dominated SIUE 3-0. In the Division II finals, the Cougars were the only team to score against Barry — which went on to win the national championship.

SIUE finished the year with a Top 20 national ranking, and they are ranked again entering this season. But Korbesmeyer remains cautious about the upcoming season, which kicks off Sept. 3 against Wisconsin-Parkside in the St. Joseph's College Classic in Kenosha, Ind.

"We haven't played yet, and

we're going to have to play well because everybody wants to play well against a team that gets a (NCAA) bid," Korbesmeyer said. "We've always been one of the better Division II teams, but I don't know if you can say we're in the upper echelon yet."

(But) I like the experience we have back and the fact that all our leading scorers are back. We're pretty excited. We basically have to improve on our experience."

SIUE HAS NO seniors and has an even balance among its freshmen, sophomores and juniors. Leading the Cougars into this season is Wiese, a junior who posted six goals and five assists last year.

Several other proven scorers are back, including junior Vicki Zimmerman. Zimmerman scored six goals coming off the bench. Two sophomores, Stacy Bundren and Kelly Zermuehlen, both had five goals and three assists. Becky Thompson, a junior from Collinsville, had four goals and three assists.

In goal, Kult returns for her sophomore season after a near record-breaking freshman year. The 1993 GCHS graduate started all 19 games and tied the SIUE school record for saves in a season with 130. She finished with a 1.33 goals against average and posted seven shutouts.

But Kult is still feeling the effects of a knee injury suffered while playing with the SIUE women's basketball team earlier this year. Kult suffered cartilage damage during practice and has been recuperating gradually.

KULT, HOWEVER, will likely be ready to go this season. Her backup, Mandy Wieneke, played backup. (See SIUE, Page 2B)

Van Buskirk set to return to IU lineup

By Tony Panozzo
Staff writer

John Van Buskirk is getting a second chance with the Indiana University soccer team this fall. He plans to make the most of it.

Van Buskirk, a fifth-year senior, sat out as a redshirt last year after undergoing reconstructive surgery to repair the anterior cruciate ligament in his right knee. Van Buskirk suffered the ACL injury as a junior during the 1992 season.

THE DECISION to redshirt last fall left Van Buskirk with one final year of eligibility. It appears to have paid off nicely for the former Granite City High (See JVB, Page 2B)

School star. Van Buskirk's long comeback will culminate Saturday, when he takes the field for Indiana in a season-opening exhibition game against Butler University.

"I'm ready," said Van Buskirk, 22, one of the Hoosiers' top players. "It's great to be back. I'm going to give it my all. I want to make the most of my last year."

Van Buskirk has been looking forward to this season since suffering the injury to his right knee on Oct. 23, 1992. He underwent surgery over the following winter and sat out the entire 1993 season.

This year, however, has been much more productive for Van Buskirk. He spent the summer playing with the Louisville Thoroughbreds in the United States Intercontinental Soccer League. Van Buskirk played under coach David Fernandez, also a native of Granite City.

VAN BUSKIRK'S knee appears to be at full strength after a lengthy rehabilitation process. He returns to the field as one of Indiana's most experienced players, and the Hoosiers enter this season ranked second in the nation in Division I.

"I would have to say it's our best team in the (five) years I've been here, as far as skills and strength," Van Buskirk said. "All the coaches are pumped up."

Indiana has eight returning seniors, one of the best groups in the history of the program. Coach Jerry Yeagley said the Hoosiers are thrilled to have Van Buskirk back in the lineup. "We're very happy to have him back," Yeagley said. "His return is a welcome presence to the team."

"He's healthy and on top of his game, and I see him being a very versatile player for us. The one thing that helps us offensively is he seems to have fine-tuned his attacking instincts. We'll take more advantage of those abilities."

VAN BUSKIRK, who helped the Warriors win state titles in 1987 and 1989, played as a midfielder during his first three years with the Hoosiers and scored nine goals. But over the summer, he picked up his scoring pace while playing for Fernandez.

Fernandez, who played for four state championship teams at Granite City South in the late 1970s, is the head coach of Bellarmine College in Louisville. He agreed to coach the USISL's Thoroughbreds and asked Van Buskirk to play.

Van Buskirk responded by playing in all 18 games and scored 22 goals to lead Louisville to the Mid-South Division title. At the end of the year, he was named MVP of the division.

"He had a great summer," Yeagley said. "They were playing songs for him down there."

"It was fun," said Van Buskirk, who noted the experience helped strengthen his knee. "I had a couple hat tricks."

"This summer really helped my knee. We practiced twice a week, and I think just playing over and over helped a lot."

VAN BUSKIRK SAW action for the first time since the 1992 season with Indiana. He originally intended to play last year, but his knee was not at full strength and he watched from the sidelines.

Indiana went 17-3-1, ending the year with a loss to Wisconsin in the national tournament. "I practiced all fall, but it just didn't feel right," Van Buskirk said. "I just couldn't get back into the swing of things. It was tough sitting on the bench and watching the guys play, but I just needed some time."

Yeagley and Van Buskirk decided it would be best for Van Buskirk to sit out the season, a move that proved beneficial to the Hoosiers in the long run.

"At the time, it wasn't," Yeagley said. "It was. We need Buzzie now." That was a devastating injury. "Last year, he wouldn't have played 100 percent. But he's here with us now. That leg's stronger than it's ever been."

SO ARE THE Hoosiers, who enter the season with high hopes. Indiana is ranked behind No. 1 Virginia in the preseason poll.

The Hoosiers open the regular season with the Adidas-McLife Classic on Sept. 7. They will face third-ranked South Carolina and No. 4 North Carolina in the tournament, which also features 13th-ranked St. Louis University.

"That'll be a good tournament to kick off the season," Van Buskirk said.

Van Buskirk and another fifth-year senior, Steve Keller, head a senior class that includes Yeagley's son, Todd.

"Those seniors are like a platoon," coach Yeagley said. "They're working harder than they ever have. They've come back with a purpose."

Van Buskirk hopes this could be the year for IU, which reached the semifinals of the national tournament in his sophomore year (1991). He looks at this year as his final chance to help Indiana win a national championship.

Van Buskirk's playing days could extend beyond this year, however. He is scheduled to graduate with a degree in criminal justice in December.

"He has a pro future, in my mind," Yeagley said. "I think we're going to see 'Buzzie' play beyond college."

in just one game last year. "She's still hurting a little with her knee, but she has a tremendous work rate," Korbesmeyer said. "She's worked hard to get back into shape. She's a natural leader because she works so hard."

The backfield includes Kult's former teammate at GCHS, Amanda Witter. The former two-time All-Stater enters her junior year at sweeper and is one of SIUE's top defenders.

Witter has two goals and one assist last year.

"Her biggest attribute is her sense for being at where the ball's being played," Korbesmeyer said. "She reads plays very well."

"Right now, she's struggling to get to the fitness level she needs to be at. She needs a little more work, but she'll get there."

SIUE'S OTHER returning defenders are junior Nicole Weller and sophomore Beth Hamm. Korbesmeyer said newcomer Kerri Sorensen also has a chance to break into the starting lineup as a defender.

The midfield appears to be strong with Thompson, Zermuehlen and sophomore Jon Wacker returning. Three freshmen, Lynda Stehlik, Kellie Kickham and Cathy Jerrolds of Glen Carbon (Metro East Lutheran) will be battling for a starting slot.

Up front, Bundren, Wiese, Zimmerman and junior Shannon Murphy will shoulder most of the playing time.

The Cougars will once again face a strong regional schedule. SIUE will play in four tournaments, including the Pizzazz Cougar Classic on Sept. 30-Oct. 1 with the University of Missouri-Rolla, Gardner-Webb University and Lenoir-Rhyne College.

SIUE will also continue its rivalries with Quincy University, Lewis University, Northeast Missouri State, Drury College, McKendree College and the University of Missouri-St. Louis.

"We play a pretty tough schedule," Korbesmeyer said. "We're looking forward to it."

and strong safety/tight end Matt Kelahan (6-0, 175).

"Those two have been solid players for us, but we've got to fill a lot of holes," Harris said. "When you start inexperienced people, you're not sure just how good you can be."

Junior Jeremy Hoback (6-0, 158) will handle the quarterbacking duties this season, replacing the graduated Donald Harris, now at Blackburn College.

"HOBACK'S COMING along," Harris said. "That's a high-skill position, and he's got to be a leader. We think he'll do a good job for us." Cahokia also has a void to fill at the quarterback spot. Three-year starter Chris Kirk has graduated and will be replaced by senior Lamondre Roberson (6-0, 160).

But the quick-footed, strong-armed Roberson should have plenty of protection. Cahokia coach Rob Eden has the biggest offensive line in his 22 years as a head coach.

Leading the way is Division I prospect Todd Wilhelm (6-3, 280). Wilhelm and center Dave Collins (5-9, 220) anchor a line that can average nearly 250 pounds.

Running inside shouldn't be a problem for the Comanches. But getting those big horses to their respective spots on sweeps is something Eden says his team needs to work on.

"WE HAVE TO be able to get wide. We're going to have to quicken up our line some in order to be effective," said Eden, 39-36 in eight years at CHS.

The line only needs to open a small hole for Paul Davis, Cahokia's returning tailback. The 6-1, 172-pound speedburner broke onto the grid season last year when he gained 1,412 yards on 200 carries, while scoring 17 touchdowns.

"Davis may be the best runner on this side of the river," Harris said. "He can fly."

Joining Davis in the backfield is fellow senior Titus Taylor (5-10, 170) and James McGee, a 5-8, 158-pound junior.

The Comanches receiving corps is a good one as well. Senior Erna Sillas (5-8, 160) is back after leading the team with a 17.1 yards-per-catch average last fall. Sillas is a three-year starter and also the team's backup quarterback.

A pair of junior tight ends, Foster DeBerry (6-3, 200) and Robert Rose (5-10, 170), give Roberson plenty to choose from when he goes to the air.

us last year. We're very happy with his work ethic. Jason York provides depth and experience in goal."

Eristol will be supported by a defense that includes two returning varsity players, senior Jon Reader and junior Jeff Hayes. Two newcomers to the varsity level, Matt Wilson and Travis Wills, will also be in the backfield. Both are seniors.

The Warriors will count on several other players off the bench, including seniors Jason Potter, Jim Stevens and Sonny Aryan. Four juniors — Steve Logan, Mark Mendenhall, Greg Sturdivant and Justin Bernaix — will also see time.

"THEY WILL ALL get quality time," Baker said. "Logan will be our first player off the bench. He's a good worker. He can score and play defense."

The Warriors figure to be a bigger and possibly more athletic team this year. Everyone appears to be in top shape except Bucherich.

"We're going to try and wait until he can play," Baker said. "Depth could be a problem, but we feel we're physically pretty strong."

After playing at Richwoods on Saturday, Granite City will face Civic Memorial in its home opener Tuesday. The Warriors will get two tough tests next week at home against St. Louis powers McCluer North and Vianney.

The Warriors will play in two tournaments this year, the Hazelwood Central Invitational and the Tournament of Champions, and hope to be involved in a third — the Illinois state tournament. The Warriors have not advanced to state since 1990, the year they won their 10th state title.

The Warriors have been eliminated in the postseason the past three years by Collinsville.

"We just want to be ready to take on anyone at that time," Baker said. "We have a quality schedule. The big things obviously are the Tournament of Champions and the state tournament."
